	each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without the services of Adviser. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by Advisor which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by Advisor to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided. Class Actions, Bankruptcies and Other Legal Proceedings            Client's should note that Advisor will neither advise nor act on behalf of the client in legal proceedings involving companies whose securities are held or previously were held in the client's account(s), including, but not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. If desired, clients may direct Adviser to transmit copies of class action notices to the client or a third party. Upon such direction, Advisor will make commercially reasonable efforts to forward such notices in a timely manner.

9D, 9E	From time to time, the Advisor may purchase or sell for its actively managed accounts, or recommend to its advisory accounts, a security in a company that is concurrently owned investment advisor representatives or another family member. Such purchases or sales are based on the Advisor's analysis of the risk/reward opportunity of the particular security measured against the investment parameters stipulated by the client in question. Such purchases or sales for a client of a particular security either precede, or are concurrent with (via a block trade), new transactions on behalf of the Advisor. Advisor has adopted a Code of Ethics expressing the firm's commitment to ethical conduct. Advisor's Code of Ethics describes the firm's fiduciary duties and responsibilities to clients, and sets forth Advisor's practice of supervising the personal securities transactions of supervised persons with access to client information. It is the expressed policy of Advisor that no person employed by Advisor shall prefer his or her own interest to that of an advisory client or make personal investment decisions based on the investment decisions of advisory clients. To supervise compliance with its Code of Ethics, Advisor requires that anyone associated with this advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations provide annual securities holdings reports and quarterly transaction reports to the firm's Chief Compliance Officer. 13A	The Advisor may, from time to time, engage in “block” trading, which occurs when a trade is placed for the benefit of more than one client at a time. If such an order is filled, the commission on the trade will be distributed on a pro-rata basis among each client for whom the securities were purchased or sold. The Advisor believes that block trades and average pricing results in a more efficient execution at equitable final prices for all accounts than if the trades had been done individually. As indicated under the disclosure for Item 12.B., Advisor utilizes the services of the TD Ameritrade Institutional Services (‘TD Ameritrade’) program. While there is no direct linkage between the investment advice given to clients and Advisor's participation in the TD Ameritrade program, economic benefits are received by Advisor which would not be received if Advisor did not give investment advice to clients. These benefits include: A dedicated trading desk that services TD Ameritrade participants exclusively, a dedicated service group and an account services manager dedicated to Advisor's accounts, access to a real-time order matching system, ability to 'block' client trades, electronic download of trades, balances and positions, access to duplicate and batched client statements, confirmations and year-end summaries, the ability to have advisory fees directly debited from client accounts (in accordance with federal and state requirements), availability of third-party research and technology and access to Institutional mutual funds, among other things. There is no direct link between the Advisor’s participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although the Advisor receives economic benefits through its participation in the program. The benefits received by the Advisor do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade
13B	Elderado Financial, Inc. has a written agreement to pay referral fees to unaffiliated individuals for client referrals. Clients who were solicited, receive a written disclosure document stating that the solicitor is being compensated for referring Elderado Financial, Inc. and the terms of the compensation arrangement at the time of the solicitation. Elderado Financial, Inc. continues to pay for these client referrals for as long as the referral remains an Elderado Financial client until the terms of the contract are amended.
14	Elderado Financial, Inc. is deemed to have custody of certain client funds and/or securities although all client funds and securities are held for safekeeping and recordkeeping at unrelated custodians (i.e. TD Ameritrade). Under the current rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, audited financial statements are no longer required to be furnished to clients if Elderado Financial, Inc. meets the following criteria: 1) All accounts are held at a compliant, qualified (and unrelated) custodian. 2) All clients are notified in writing that the custodian is holding the funds or securities and the client receives information on how to contact the custodian. And 3) The clients must receive statements directly from the custodian on at least a quarterly basis.
